

It doesn't get much more Yorkshire than this An idyllic setting, the velvet sounds of a brass band, delicious beer and of course pork pies and mushy peas. Butchers from all over the country pitted their pies against one another at the 14th Annual Pork Pie Competition at the Old Bridge Inn, Ripponden, on Saturday. And once more Hinchliffe's Farm Shop, Netherton, scooped first place.

This latest accolade comes just a week after the Holme Valley farm shop won a UK champion of champions' event for its pork, cheddar and chive sausages. The day raised about £2,000 for the West Yorkshire Forget Me Not Trust, which aims to build a hospice for children in Kirklees or Calderdale, and to the Elland Silver Youth Band who were playing throughout the day.

Peter Charnley, secretary of the Pork Pie Appreciation Society which organised the event, said: "We've had more than 60 entries this year, the most
